

This is an Urglaawe protection charm. It is a new construct taken from notes regarding various traditional Braucherei and Hexerei practices relating to the protection of a horse.

Set Up:

Be near a fire.

Have on hand a glass or cup of water. Take a small sip of the water and let it seep onto your right hand.

Then say:

Geischt un Wasser
Geischt un Wasser
Geischt un Wasser

[While intoning the Ehwaz rune 3x - sprinkle a bit of water on the horses muzzle or place your dampened hand onto the muzzle. If the horse has a "Bless," (a white spot on the forehead), sprinkle it there. Then place the right hand on the dampened spot]

[Elhaz rune 3x]

Alhiz Alhiz ruf ich eich
Hietet mei Gaul gegge yede Schtreich
Darrich mei Hend yetz sinn mir gleich die en Deck baue, schtarrick un reich

Kelt un Hitz
Mei Deck beschitzt

[Ehwaz rune 3x]

Ich bau die Deck [repeat while running the right hand along the horse's body]

Elhaz rune 3x]

Geischt un Wasser
Heeret mei Ruf zu Hiet
Mei Wadde yetz ich schmied

[Take another sip of the water and spit it into the fire]

Use your left hand to pat the muzzle of the horse dry.

Leave offerings to the Alhiz.

Set Up:

Be near a fire.

[Elhaz rune 3x]

Alhiz, Alhiz to ye I call
Heed my horse against every strike
Through my hands now are we alike
they build a cover strong and rich

Cold and Heat
My cover protects

[Ehwaz rune 3x]

I build the cover [repeat while running the right hand along the horse's body]

Elhaz rune 3x]

Spirit and Water
Hear my call to Heed
My words now do I forge

[Take another sip of the water and spit it into the fire]

Use your left hand to pat the muzzle of the horse dry.

Leave offerings to the Alhiz.
